Please note that the decision has been taken at Consortium level that all absences due to holidays and extended visits should not be authorised by any head teachers within the six Local Authorities in the south wales and mid wales consortium.

If, however, there is extended absence, then the parent/s or guardian/s will discuss with the school about taking work to ensure that the child keeps up with their education during the absence.

Failure to return on the agreed date could prompt welfare concerns; a child who goes missing from education may be considered to be at risk from significant harm. Any such concerns could be immediately referred to the statutory authorities for consideration.
